With innovation, adaptability and reliability as our core strength, we have created more than 200 million square feet of state-of-the-art storage systems for various sectors ranging from E-commerce to 3PL since the beginning of this century.

Our culture of continuous learning coupled with decades of experience in the field of intralogistics has enabled us to design best-in-class solution to serve all storage needs.

About the product

Godrej Double Deep Pallet Racking is ideal for high storage density storage requirement. DDPR systems are similar to selective pallet racking but designed with two bays of racks that can be accessed with a specialized forklift, reach trucks or other telescopic material handling equipment. Double Deep system increases storage efficiency and pallet density. The system is commonly designed against the wall or back to back with another DDPR system, thereby maximizing floor space.

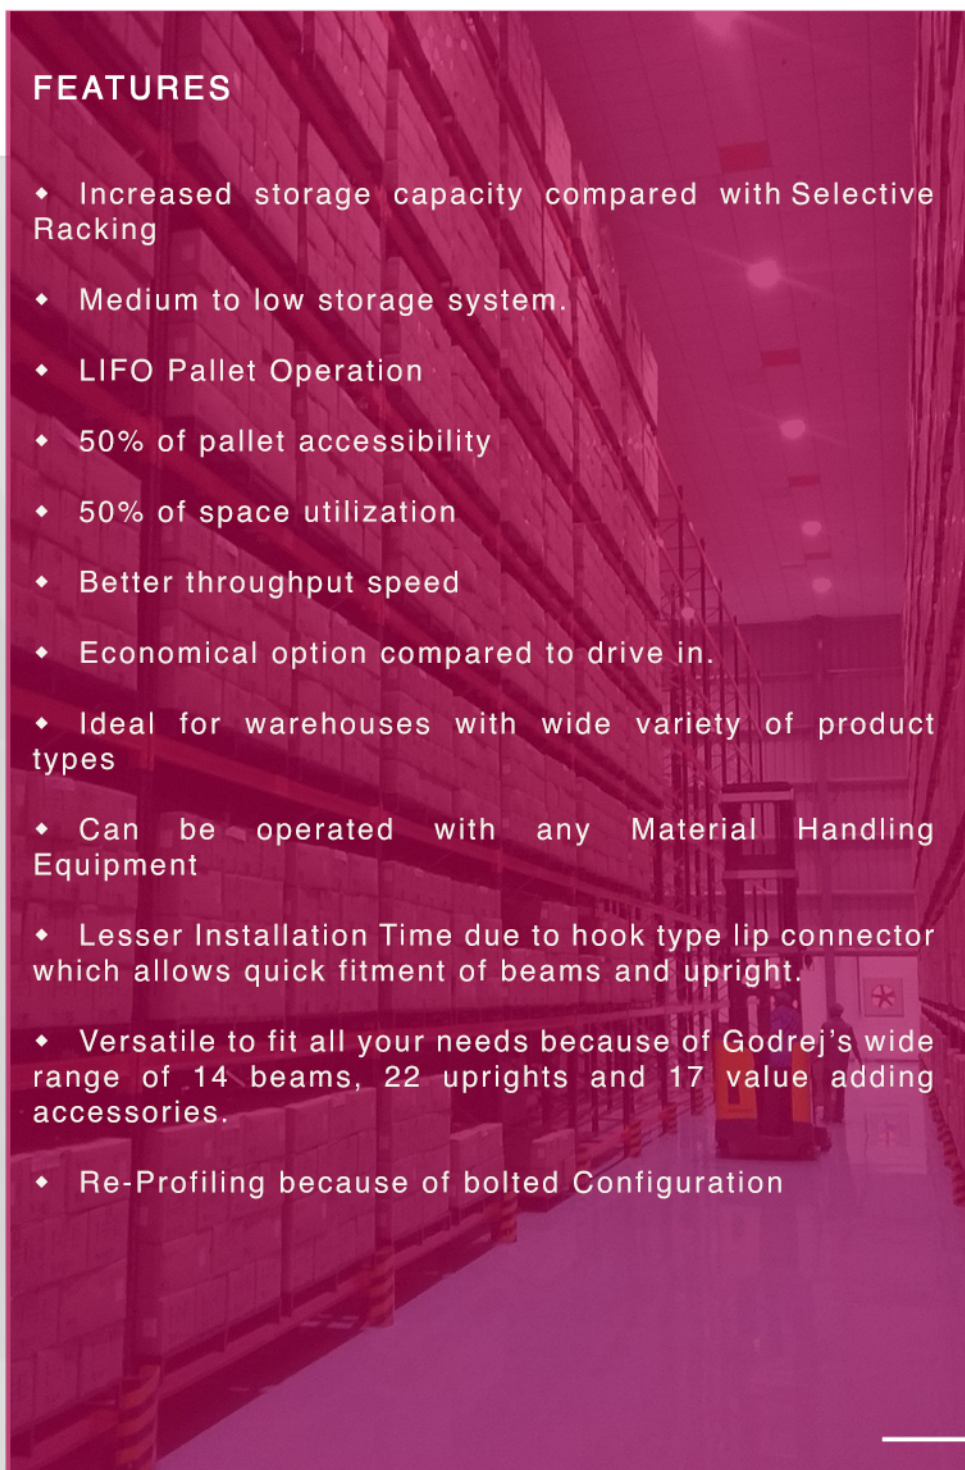

DDPR system is suitable for storage with limited space and high volume inventory rotation, increasing floor space by 60-65% compared to traditional Selective Pallet Racking. The system increases storage space by reduces unneeded aisles, resulting in increased storage space. We have the capability to design DDPR systems for any seismic zone as per the installation site location. We can also convert existing selective pallet racking system to double deep system.
